

Contents

	Page
Presentation of the English edition	xi
Prologue	xv
Note to the second edition.....	xix
I. Introduction.....	1
§ 1. The art of law.....	1
§ 2. The virtue of justice.....	5
II. Analysis of justice and of what is just	9
§ 1. The point of departure	9
1. Things are distributed	9
2. Things are or may be in the hands of others	16
§ 2. The formula of justice: giving to each his own	17
1. Giving.....	17
2. To each	22
3. His own	25
§ 3. What is just.....	27
1. Concept.....	27
2. What is just as right	29
3. What is just as the equal	31
4. The title, the foundation and the measurement of what is just.....	34
§ 4. The relation of justice	36

Copyright © Midwest Theological Forum
More Information Available at www.theologicalforum.org

§ 5.	Fundamental types of relations of justice	39
1.	What is owed between persons (commutative justice)	39
2.	What is owed by the collectivity to the individual (distributive justice)	41
3.	What the individual owes the collectivity (legal justice)	49
§ 6.	The basis of the right	50
§ 7.	What is fair and equity	55
§ 8.	Injustice and what is unjust	58
1.	Notion of injustice	59
2.	Types of injustice	60
3.	What is unjust and unjust infringement	62
4.	Restitution	64
5.	Compensation	64
III.	What is naturally just	67
§ 1.	Division of law	67
§ 2.	Existence of Natural Law	69
1.	Existence of natural titles	70
2.	Existence of natural measures	75
§ 3.	Human nature and the nature of things in determining what is naturally just	77
§ 4.	Types of natural rights	80
1.	Original rights and subsequent rights	80
2.	Primary rights and derived rights	81
§ 5.	Goods and measures of natural right	82
1.	What goods are natural rights?	82
2.	Natural measure of the right	84
§ 6.	Human nature and the historical condition in relation to what is naturally just	85
1.	Nature and historical condition	86
2.	Influence of the historical condition on what is naturally just	87
3.	Limits on historicity	91
§ 7.	Abstraction and concretion in natural rights	92
§ 8.	What is positively just	94

§ 9. Relations between what is naturally just and what is positively just	98
IV. The subject of right	103
§ 1. The person in the juridical sense	103
§ 2. Juridical relations	113
V. The rule of law	117
§ 1. The rule and its relation to what is just	117
§ 2. The juridical norm	120
§ 3. The natural rule of law	123
VI. Natural law	125
§ 1. Assumptions	125
§ 2. Existence of Natural Law	127
§ 3. The basis of Natural Law: the purposes of man	128
§ 4. Descriptive definition of Natural Law	130
§ 5. Content of Natural Law	131
§ 6. The obligatory nature of Natural Law	132
§ 7. Grasping Natural Law	138
§ 8. Structure of Natural Law	141
§ 9. Types of Natural Law precepts	143
§ 10. Universality of Natural Law	144
§ 11. Human nature and historicity in Natural Law precepts	146
§ 12. Natural Law and freedom	147
§ 13. Natural Law and human laws	149
§ 14. Natural Law	154
§ 15. Types of natural juridical norms	155
VII. Natural law and positive law	157
§ 1. Relations between natural juridical norms and positive juridical norms	157
§ 2. The juridical system	160
1. The unity between the Natural Law and the positive law	160

2. Positivation and formalization of Natural Law	161
3. The Natural Law and the system guaranteeing the effectiveness of the law .	165
4. The Natural Law and the interpretation of the law	167
5. Critical juridical science	171
VIII. The science of natural law	173

Copyright (c) Midwest Theological Forum
 More Information Available at www.theologicalforum.org

