1a What Is the Bible?
What Catholics Believe About the Bible

Sacred Scripture is inspired and inerrant. "Inspired"—from a word meaning "breathed in"—means that God himself guided the authors who wrote the books of the Bible. The writers' intellects were enlightened directly by the action of the Holy Spirit to write what God wanted and nothing more. This process took place over several thousand years. The Spirit moved them to write without in any way impairing their freedom to write what was in their intellects. Though God is the principal author of Scripture, the human authors are also true authors because they acted as free, subordinate, intelligent instruments of the Holy Spirit.

"Inerrant" means that it does not err or improperly understand. Scripture always teaches truth, never error. "Since, therefore, all that the inspired authors, or sacred writers, affirm should be regarded as affirmed by the Holy Spirit, we must acknowledge that the books of Scripture firmly, faithfully, and without error, teach that truth which God, for the sake of our salvation, wished to see confided to the Sacred Scriptures." (DV 11).

For the Catholic believer, the Word of God alone is supreme. But the Scriptures are not the only source for God's Word, as the Scriptures themselves will tell you.

St. Paul reminds the Thessalonian believers (2 Thes 2:12) that they must hold fast to the traditions that the Apostles have passed down either in writing or by word of mouth. "Stand firm and hold to the traditions which you were taught by us, either by word of mouth or by letter." Sacred Scripture and Sacred Tradition form one source from which the Word of God comes to us, as the New Testament itself tells us.

The true interpretation of both Sacred Scripture and Sacred Tradition is expressed in the infallible teaching of the Church, the Magisterium. "Infallible" means that, because of the divine help of Christ, himself, the Church cannot teach error in matters of Faith and morals.

What does it mean to say the Bible is divinely inspired?

The Holy Spirit enlightened the intellects of many different sacred authors over thousands of years so they could conduct all that God wanted them to write and nothing more. Divine inspiration did not move the will of each sacred author—without impairing his freedom in any way—toward what was in his intellect. Divine inspiration enabled the human author to use the correct language and expressions as God had described what was being infallibly written.

This means God is the principal author of Scripture. The human authors are also true authors. These sacred authors were fully intelligent, subordinate instruments of the Holy Spirit. Because of this, God made the Bible inspired and can at the same time be called the work of God and of the human author. There is reality in Scripture not inspired by God. All scripture is inspired by God and professed by teaching, by separating for correction, and for training in righteousness (2 Tim 3:16).

The Holy Spirit, guiding Authors of the Bible, chose human authors in the choice of expressions in such a way that the latter will express a truth the fullest degree of which the author by himself does not perceive. This deeper truth can be more fully revealed in the course of time and discerned in the Church under the guidance of the Holy Spirit.

ANTICIPATORY SET

Explain to the students St. Paul wrote the Second Epistle to Timothy near the end of his life when he was in prison for having preached the Gospel. St. Paul had ordained St. Timothy a bishop and gave him advice to carry out his ministry.

Have each student complete a focused reading on 2 Timothy 3: 10 — 4: 5, using the following question:

- What is the nature of Sacred Scripture, and what are its purposes?

Have each student work with a partner to focus on verse 16, and, using a dictionary if necessary, explain what the verse means.

God is the source of Scripture. It is useful to teach the Faith, prove what is not in accord with the Faith, correct behavior that goes against the Faith, and train people how to live according to God’s will.
GUIDED EXERCISE

Have the students analyze the illustration of the Garden of Eden (p. 9), and then lead a class discussion using the following questions:

- What four vignettes of the story of Adam and Eve does the artist portray?
  - The creation of Adam
  - The forming of Eve from Adam’s body
  - The eating of the forbidden fruit
  - The expulsion of Adam and Eve from the Garden

FOCUS QUESTIONS

- What does it mean to say the Bible is literature?
  The Bible uses literary forms and techniques to convey meaning.

- In addition to varying literary devices, what other difficulty do people face when reading the Bible?
  The Bible is ancient, so people have to try to understand the way the authors saw the world.

- What is the first rule to understand the Bible as literature?
  One must understand the literal sense first.

- What is the literal sense?
  It is the immediate and direct meaning of the text.

- What does a literary analysis of Genesis uncover?
  The structure portrays creation as a kind of Temple.

- What is the difference between literal and literalistic?
  Literal refers to the intended meaning. Literalistic interpretation understands everything literally regardless of intention.

GUIDED EXERCISE

The Bible contains a tremendous variety of writing styles. This is due to its many different authors, writing about different events and for different reasons across millennia.

Conduct a think/pair/share to look up the following biblical passages and match each with the category that most accurately fits the passage. (Be sure to rearrange the categories when writing them on the board.)

- Luke 1: 1–4: Accurate history
- Song of Songs 2: 8–13: Beautiful poetry
- 1 Chronicles 2: 1–17: Family genealogy
- Romans 6: 1–4: Complicated theology
- Revelation 12: 1–6: Symbolic vision

Because we have both Scripture and Tradition, interpreted for us by the Magisterium, the Catechism tells us, "The Christian faith is not a religion of the book" (1081). Instead, Christianity is a religion of the Word of God, and the Word of God—Jesus Christ—is still living today and will live forever.

But Scripture is the way we come to know who Jesus is. As St. Jerome declared, "Ignorance of Scripture is ignorance of Christ." If you want to feel at home in the Kingdom of God, then the Bible is your map. If you want to understand whom you receive in Holy Communion, then you need to understand how God was preparing his people for centuries before he finally gave us the Bread of Life in the Eucharistic Liturgy.

All Sacred Scripture is but one book, and this one book is Christ, "because all divine Scripture speaks of Christ, and all divine Scripture is fulfilled in Christ" (Hugh of St. Victor, De arca Noe 2.8; PL 176, 642; cf. Ibd. 2.9; PL 176, 642-643, CCC 1154).

"The Word of God is living and active," wrote St. Paul (Heb 4:12), "sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing to the division of soul and spirit, of joints and marrow, discerning the thoughts and intentions of the heart." To live in a way that truly pleases Jesus Christ, we need to study—and meditate on—the Bible. That is a divinely-revealed way to get to know what Jesus Christ is like.
The Bible is Sacred Literature

The Bible is sacred literature because God is its author. Because Sacred Scripture is written in human language, it is possible for humans to understand it. Understanding it correctly, however, sometimes requires some preparation.

The first thing to remember about Scripture is that it is literature. That means it uses literary forms and techniques to convey its meaning. Unless we understand how those forms and techniques work, we cannot understand the meaning the inspired authors wanted to convey to us.

There are many different kinds of literature (stories, poems, dialogue, figurative language, and others) in the Bible, and the sacred writers used many different literary techniques. Because they lived at different times and had different personalities, they used those techniques differently. Those differences make reading Scripture endlessly fascinating.

We also need to remember that the Bible is ancient literature. Even the most recent books of the New Testament were written almost two thousand years ago. The authors of Scripture did not write the same way modern authors write. To understand what they meant to say, we have to understand the way they saw the world.

In Sacred Scripture, God speaks to man in a human way. To interpret Scripture correctly, the reader must be attentive to what the human authors truly wanted to affirm and to what God wanted to reveal to us by their words (cf. DV12 §2, CCC 107).

In order to discover the sacred authors’ intention, the reader must take into account the conditions of time and culture, the literary style in use at that time, and the modes of feeling, speaking, and narrating then current. For the fact that truth is differently presented and expressed in the various types of historical writings, and in other forms of literary expression (DV12 §2, CCC 107).

FOCUS QUESTIONS

- Why is the Bible literature?
  The Bible uses literary forms and techniques to convey its meaning.

- How does the Book of Genesis shed light on Jeremiah 4: 23?
  Jeremiah drew on imagery from the creation narrative to communicate how terrible God’s judgment would be against Judah. It was as if God would uncreate Judah.

- What does it mean to describe a Sacred Author’s intention?
  Intention describes what the Sacred Author intended to affirm and what God wanted to reveal by his words. Extension: in every book of the Bible there are two intentions: what the Sacred Author intended and what God intends. God’s intention often goes beyond the intention of the Sacred Author; for example, many passages in the Old Testament foreshadow Christ without the Sacred Author having realized it.

GUIDED EXERCISE

Conduct a think/pair/share using the following question:

- How can the Sacred Author’s intention be discovered in a particular passage of the Bible?

The reader must take into account conditions of time and culture; the genre; and the modes of feeling, speaking, and narrating.

CLOSURE

Put the students in groups of three or four to brainstorm reasons people might think there are errors in the Bible.

- Some people deny God is the author of Scripture.
- Some misunderstand that the authors described things in a way people of their time understood and not in modern terms.
- Some misunderstand the literary genres of the authors.
- Some misunderstand the Sacred Authors’ intentions.

HOMEWORK ASSIGNMENT

- Study Questions 1–11, 18, 21–22 (p. 33)
- Practical Exercises 1–2 (p. 35)
- Workbook Questions 1–14
- Read “The Bible Is Religious” through the sidebar “Covenant History” (pp. 6–9)

ALTERNATIVE ASSESSMENT

Have each student write a paragraph exploring the parallel between the human-divine authorship of the Bible and the human-divine Incarnation of God.

Briefly share answers (cf. “How did that inspiration . . .” [p. 5] for one possible answer.)
